

JASMUN IS BACK!

We are delighted to announce the seventh edition of JASMUN, with the theme “In varietate concordia”. In the hope of truly uniting in diversity, we would like to invite students from all over the world to apply to our conference! We aspire to transform the way Polish MUNs work by introducing a THIMUN-style of debates and breaking the circle of repetitiveness, with a special emphasis on quality through merchandise, keynote speakers, and academic valour.

We are thrilled to host you at JASMUN!

Location: Warsaw, Poland

From a mythical village started by Wars and Sawa - through times of uprisings and restoration - to a bustling European capital city - Warsaw has undergone quite a change! With our diverse venues, cooperation with Polish companies and sponsors, and a dedication to showcasing the international profile of Warsaw. We wish to show how much Warsaw has blossomed into a beautiful capital!

MOTTO- United in diversity - the motto of the European Union - for us, these are not empty words.

Letter from the Secretary General:

DEAR DELEGATES, ADVISORS AND DISTINGUISHED GUESTS,

It is with my utmost pleasure to invite you to the 7th edition of Jasienica Model United Nations — JASMUN. Serving as this year's Secretary General I am honoured to welcome those who will join us for the first time, and those who already experienced JASMUN during previous editions.

In 2026, our guiding topic is "The Rise of Emerging Global Powers". We believe that the ongoing shifts of power are one of the most significant and influential processes shaping the current geopolitical situation in the world. For many years, it was only a few nations that guided international politics. However, as new actors begin to rise and bring their own views and perspectives to the global stage, the past order is being slowly dismantled. These shifts carry great hope for a more balanced and inclusive political state of the world. Simultaneously, they remind us that with newly born influence comes also great responsibility. It is in such circumstances that the spirit of diplomacy, which we aim to continuously cultivate at JASMUN, truly matters.

For several years now JASMUN has borne the motto of the European Union — In Varietate Concordia — as our guiding principle. Translated from Latin, it means "united in diversity". With each forthcoming edition of our conference this statement only continues to grow in relevance. Every nation, culture or ethnicity brings a unique perspective to the discussion table. Without this diversity, diplomacy would have no meaning. In a world which changes so rapidly, we must look past the differences that separate us and instead focus on a shared future we can build in cooperation. True unity doesn't require perfectly aligned views, but rather respect and an eagerness to search for common ground. We hope to further foster this spirit of unity this very September at JASMUN.

During the four days of JASMUN, delegates will have a chance to debate across various committees on a variety of topics. Together, they will write resolutions aimed at solving problems of the current world. It is an amazing opportunity to develop critical thinking, diplomacy and public speaking skills. However, JASMUN is far more than the official aspect on its own. It is also the people you meet, the friendships you build and the conversations over coffee breaks that truly shape the experience.

Our team has been working with great dedication to prepare a conference worthy of your time and effort, and we cannot wait to welcome you. Whether you come representing a global superpower or a small island state, your voice matters and your contribution will shape the outcome of our debates.

On behalf of the entire JASMUN team, I sincerely invite you to join us for what promises to be an unforgettable edition of our conference.

SINCERELY,

Maja Dobrosielska

Secretary General of JASMUN 26

WHAT IS JASMUN?

Jasienica Model United Nations, JASMUN, is a four-day-long MUN conference taking place on September 25-28th in Warsaw. A MUN is a simulation of real-life deliberations of the United Nations. Participants act as delegates, representing UN Member States and addressing various global issues. At JASMUN, participants can choose from 9 committees, allowing you to engage in sessions that match your interests. Our committees range from the all-time challenging Security Council, and the unexpected Crisis Committee, to more specialised ones like ECOFIN or EC. The wide range of committees addresses a variety of interests, including diplomacy, economics, sciences, history, and politics. Furthermore, JASMUN is a team of motivated young individuals who work hard to provide you with the best experience possible. This year, based on our international experience in places like Lübeck and Budapest, we emphasise productive resolution writing, as well as on our ambitious Crisis Committee. Through participating in heated debates, careful negotiations with other delegations, or, finally, writing a resolution itself, JASMUN will help you develop some crucial skills such as public speaking, teamwork, and leadership. Finally, JASMUN is a fun, educational place that allows like-minded people to meet each other, have a good time, and learn.

Our committees:

BEGINNER COMMITTEES:

The Human Rights Council (HRC) addresses violations of human rights worldwide. It investigates abuses, proposes mechanisms for protection, and promotes international human rights standards. Debates often balance sovereignty concerns with moral and legal obligations.

The World Health Organization (WHO) focuses on global public health issues, working to combat diseases, improve healthcare systems, and respond to health emergencies. Delegates collaborate to develop policies and solutions that promote health and well-being worldwide.

The European Council (EC) brings together EU leaders to set the political direction and priorities of the European Union. Delegates represent not only member states and work to reach consensus on major political and strategic issues.

The Social and Humanitarian Committee (SOCHUM) addresses global social, humanitarian, and human rights issues. Delegates work on topics such as refugee protection, gender equality, and social development, aiming to improve living conditions worldwide.

United Nations Women (UNW) is dedicated to promoting gender equality and empowering women globally. Delegates focus on policies and initiatives that address discrimination, protect women's rights, and ensure equal opportunities in all sectors.

INTERMEDIATE COMMITTEES:

The Economic and Financial Council (ECOFIN) deals with economic policy, financial markets, taxation, and EU budgetary matters. Delegates discuss and coordinate economic strategies to ensure financial stability and growth across member states.

EXPERT COMMITTEES:

The Security Council (SC) is responsible for maintaining international peace and security. It has the authority to pass binding resolutions, impose sanctions, and authorize the use of force. Due to the veto power of its five permanent members, debates here often reflect real-world geopolitical tensions.

The Crisis Committee (CC) simulates fast-moving, high-stakes situations such as wars, coups, or global emergencies. Delegates react in real time, make rapid decisions, and respond to unexpected developments in the topic introduced by the chair and crisis writers. It emphasizes strategy, adaptability, and realism over formal procedure, since the main topic is only disclosed 24 hours before the conference begins.

The International Criminal Court (ICC) simulates a judicial body that prosecutes individuals for serious international crimes such as genocide, war crimes, and crimes against humanity. Delegates act as legal experts, presenting arguments, examining evidence, and delivering judgments in a court-style setting.

HOW TO PREPARE Q&A

Despite the initial worry that public speaking may evoke, being well-prepared will ensure you have a stress-free and enjoyable experience! Here we come with help.

HOW SHOULD I PREPARE BEFORE THE CONFERENCE?

1. You are expected to do your research regarding the topic of your assigned committee. When studying, make sure to not only rely on the study guide, but also external sources. Remember to make sure that all of your research is based on reliable sources, such as the government website of your country, as well as dependable articles.
2. Get accustomed to your committee's Study Guide. It's a document created by your chairs to introduce you to the topic and explain what will be the most important parts of your agenda. You are expected to treat it as a starting point and do further research beyond what is included in the Study Guide. You will receive access approximately 2 weeks before the conference starts.
3. Prior to the start of the debates, and based on your research, you are expected to prepare two Position Papers: documents that will summarise your country's policy related to the topics. This will help all delegates to better understand each other's policies. It is important that in your Position Paper, you propose solutions to the topic at hand. You can find information on how to write a Position Paper in JASMUN's 2026 Rules of Procedure.

4. Delegates are asked to prepare a short summary of their Position Papers, an Opening Speech, which you will present verbally at the start of the debates. We advise you to keep your Opening Speech brief and attention-grabbing. All information will be provided in the Rules of Procedure and by your chairs.

5. The rest of your work will be done throughout the course of the debates, in the form of creating a resolution, engaging in discussions, and amending the resolutions of others. All additional information regarding the flow of debate can be found in the JASMUN 2026 Rules of Procedure.

6. If you have any questions or concerns regarding how to prepare for the conference and how the debates actually take place, we recommend looking out for announcements regarding the first-timer meeting which will be announced and held before the start of JASMUN 2026.

HOW TO DRESS?

The dress code is western business attire! Think suits, blazers, dress shirts, ties, or elegant dresses and skirts, paired with formal shoes. Dressing the part not only shows respect for the setting but also boosts your confidence and presence as a delegate.

HOW TO SPEAK DURING DEBATE?

You are expected to use formal, third-person language and address the committee, not individuals. Here are some examples:

- To begin: "The delegation of [country] believes..."
- To agree: "The delegation of [country] fully agrees with..."
- To disagree: "The delegation respectfully disagrees with..."
- To suggest: "The delegation proposes..." / "Recommends that the committee..."
- To Ask a question: "Would the delegation of [country] clarify..."
- Stay formal: "The delegation of France" instead of "we" or "you"

Keep sentences short and on topic, avoid casual language, and always stay respectful of your chais and fellow delegates, even when disagreeing.

We hope you find this information helpful in your preparations. In case of any questions, don't hesitate to contact us via email or Instagram.
